

MURDERED BY NEGROES.

WILLIAM BLACK BEATEN TO DEATH WITH BEER BOTTLES.

Found Mangled in the Woods Near Red Bank, N. J., Where He Had Been Drinking with Negro Men and Women—Four Negroes Jailed—Two Make Confessions.

RED BANK, N. J., Sept. 19.—William Black, a carpenter living on Herbert street, was found dead near the Consumers' Ice Company's pond this morning. He had been murdered, the mortal blow having been inflicted with beer bottles which Black himself had bought at an Italian bottling house in the vicinity. This evening Fred Hendrickson, one of the negroes arrested on suspicion of having been concerned in the murder, acknowledged having hit Black, but said the blow was inflicted to save his own life.

Black, who was about 55 years old, had been doing odd jobs of carpentering around here for a number of years. His last work was on Sidney Cooper's tenement house, which is a high building on Central avenue. He was yesterday noon and shortly afterward went to the bottling house of Frank Sacco. Sacco says that Black visited his place twice during the afternoon. The first time he came there he was accompanied by a party of negroes, and the bottles of beer and with the negroes went to the pond near the ice pond. About an hour later he returned and became more sober.

Hendrickson was in the party. This morning early he went to the bottling place and Sacco asked him what had become of the bottles used yesterday. Hendrickson replied that he was in the woods and started out with the apparent intention of getting them. He returned in a few minutes, saying he was unable to find them. He appeared to be considerably disturbed.

Sacco himself then went out to gather up the bottles and found that Black's head had been horribly beaten and his clothes were covered with blood and dirt. Three full bottles of beer were found near the body, one of them being splattered with blood.

Chief of Police Frank P. Striker after an investigation arrested Hendrickson, "Slick" Holmes, Mrs. Holmes and Charles White, all negroes. They denied all knowledge of the murder until Hendrickson made his confession.

The Withington woman then told Striker that Black was with her and that Hendrickson's jealousy led to the assault. All four were taken to Freshkill jail tonight.

Hendrickson is the son of a well-known negro farmer and is a farm hand himself. He is not more than 21 years old and has heretofore borne a good reputation. He secured work in New York last winter and returned to Red Bank during the spring.

Black was a widower with three sons—Ralph and Joseph and Ned Black, and Charles, whose residence is unknown. He was born near Trenton and spent his early life in Missouri. The coroner will hold an inquest to-morrow.

WILLIAM OTOOLE DISAPPEARS.

Been Gone a Week and No Clue Found to His Whereabouts.

William J. O'Toole, free library trustee of Hoboken and auditor of the Hoboken Land and Improvement Company and also of the Hoboken Warehouse and Railroad Company, has been missing for a week. His disappearance is mysterious. His business affairs were in first-class shape, his domestic life was of the happiest, and no reason can be assigned except that his mind became deranged or that he met with an accident. A week ago yesterday when he was at home at 1008 Park avenue, he complained to his wife of a pain in the region of his heart and lay down to rest. The following morning he felt somewhat better and started for work at his usual time. In front of his house he stopped and conversed for a moment with the collector, Edward J. Sherman of the School Board and William Meahan. They left him there, and since then no trace of him has been found.
